

Water Treatment for Trace-Level Mercury

K. Thomas Klasson

Funding Source: Bechtel Jacobs

A treatment system for mercury-contaminated groundwater was developed for application at the Oak Ridge Y-12 Site.

The method chemically modifies all the different mercury compounds to a form that can be air-sparged out of the water.

The method reduced mercury from 2.5 parts per billion to less than 100 parts per trillion.

